How to get to Lecce	If you land in Bari Palese (Airport of Bari), first you should take a train/shuttle bus (it takes about 15 minutes) that will bring you directly to Bari Centrale (railway station). Bari is about one hour and half far from Lecce by train. Other fly solutions can be find over Brindisi. If you plan to arrive in Rome (either at the Airport of Fiumicino, also named Leonardo da Vinci, and or at Ciampino), you will take a shuttle bus/train from the airport to Roma Termini (Rome main railway station) and then catch a train to Lecce. You will usually take 6 hours and half to get to Lecce. Either you come from Bari, from Rome or Milan, you may find several train solutions by visiting our domestic railway Web Page: www.trenitalia.com
Accomodation	Most of our international incoming students wish to find a suitable affordable accommodation before their arrival in Lecce; for many of them is their first experience away from home. For more informations you can see the link https://www.cercoalloggio.com/#!/city/Lecce

The list of available doctors can be consulted at the ASL Office (Health National Unit) –Viale Don Minzoni, 8 – Foreigner Office
